

JoresuOni Presents:

Patapon is a registered trademark of Rolitoland, published by Sony and developed by Pyramid, Interlink, and SIE Japan Studio.
This comic is an unofficial tribute.

PROLOGUE

THE WAR BEGINS

CREDITS

WRITING

DriftStar

Maxipawz

Adri-Chan2

VECTORS

DriftStar

Maxipawz

Adri-Chan2

Fabierex

Echo

Shockturtle

EDITORS

Maxipawz

Adri-Chan2

Subnormal Halfspy

Topaz The Crosscat

Fabierex

Echo

Many years ago...

The tribe known as the Patapons set off on an exodus to find the sacred land known as Earthend.

A prophecy foretold that a great treasure known as IT was waiting there, and would grant eternal happiness to those who were fortunate enough to see it.

Guided by the Almighty Patapon, they overcame the greatest of trials and no foe was mighty enough to destroy them.

Until...

Even the most technologically advanced dynasty of the Ah-Ooh were no match for the Patapons and were mercilessly vanquished for standing in the Patapon's way. Earthend felt so close that they could touch it.

One day, the Patapon's travels lead them to a strange object.
This object was the World Egg.
The World Egg held this world together, keeping the clashing forces of good and evil apart.

The Patapons were lead to believe that the World Egg was IT, and the vast country surrounding it was Earthend, so the Patapons built a city for themselves that became known as Pata-Pole.

The World Egg rested near the Pata-Pole Palace, kept save by its guardians.

Once upon a time in Pata-Pole,
A single Patapon was approached by Ormen Karmen,
the leader of a tribe known as the Karmen.
The poor Patapon was fooled into shattering the World Egg...

Its destruction allowed the demons of the Underworld to invade their sacred lands and lead to the Patapon's demise.

The Almighty Patapon had suddenly disappeared and the Patapons were driven from their homes. They fled to a secluded island where they were guarded by the Zigotons to make sure that they would never march again.

Hopeless and full of despair, the Patapons sent their bravest soldiers to look for the holy drum that granted them Strength.

But even the strongest heroes soon found themselves on the brink of exhaustion.

Hatapon, flagbearer of the Almighty Patapon, prayed that the one they sought would come to them in their time of need...

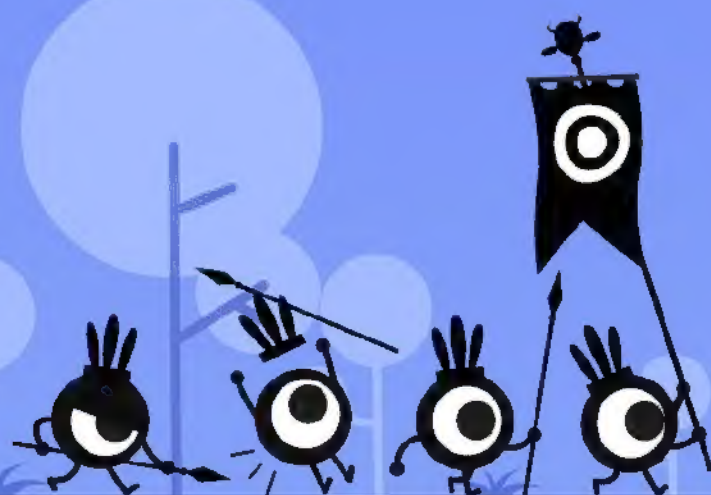

YON YON YON YON

Is that a drum?

I think I feel... energized!

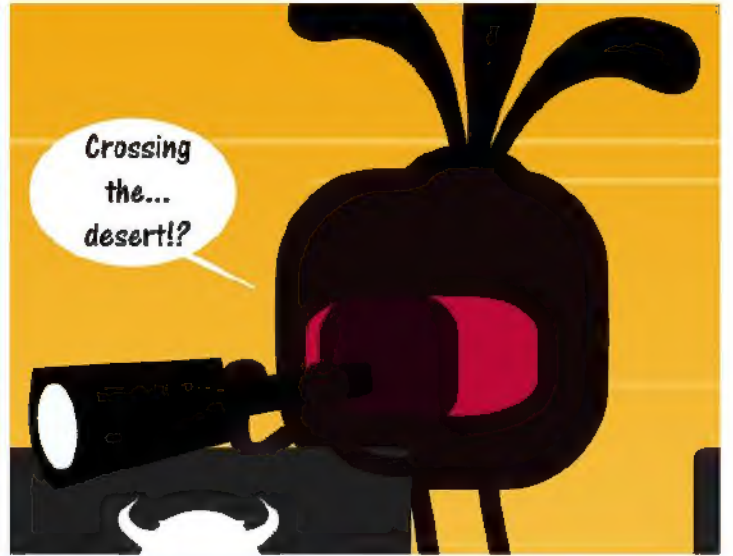

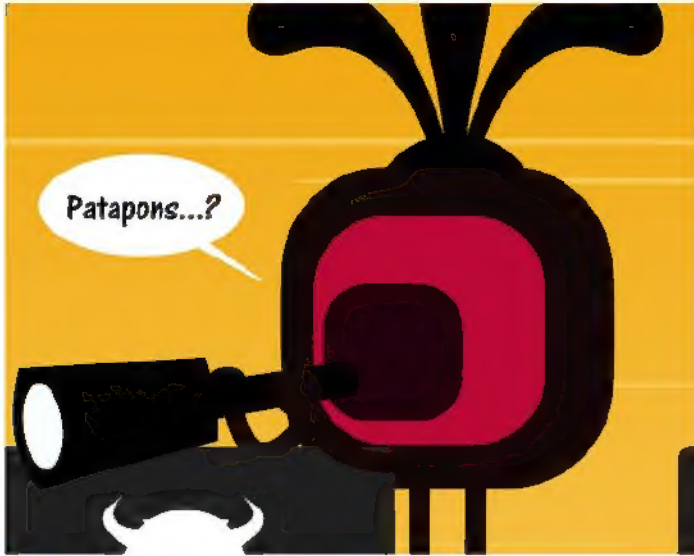

...and their prayers were answered!

With the Almighty's return, the Patapons found the courage to march again and take a stand against the Zigotons.
Using the four sacred drums that only the Almighty could play, they could summon the greatest miracles.....

Despite their cuddly appearance, Patapons could be quite violent and they made sure that the Zigotons would feel every ounce of their bloodthirst.
No Zigoton-made wall or watchguard could hold them for long.

Come on,
let's go and hunt
while we're out here!

Nice!
The Almighty Maxi will protect us with his miracles if it gets too hot for us!

PON PON PATA PON

Ya-Hoi-Hoi!

Attack!
Attack!

So....

It has come to this...

...
The Patapons chose to march again.

The prophecy foretold the end of the world if they succeed.

It's like they couldn't care less...

Too many of my men have fallen to their bloodthirst already.

It's time to punish those Patapons...

Gong...

Let's kill them.

Let's find their village and kill them all.

At ease, Hatapon.

I am alright.

These Zigotons think they can just rile us up, but you don't get to live as long as I do without a will of stone!

In fact...

I have been blessed by a vision.

A wall in the East...

...to protect our growing people.

It will withstand Zigoton forces...

as our first full defense against them!

It's hard work, but still...

We'll be able to rest easy knowing that we are not so vulnerable.

With the knowledge that Patapolis was now safe from future Zigoton attacks the Patapons set off to boldly march towards the Zigoton defenses in Mt. Bachikol.

It's that windmill!

The wind is too strong for our ranged soldiers to attack...

...while theirs get the advantage!!

Hatapon?

W...We need to go!

is going to undergo changes!

We have decided to improve the retelling of Patapon 1 to match Patapon 2, allowing for more character and story development.

The pages affected are 2-6, which will be replaced by 35 brand new pages for you to enjoy. They will upload alongside the new pages continuing the story starting on the 16th September 2017!

We will look forward to marching with you!

PATA PATA PATA PON

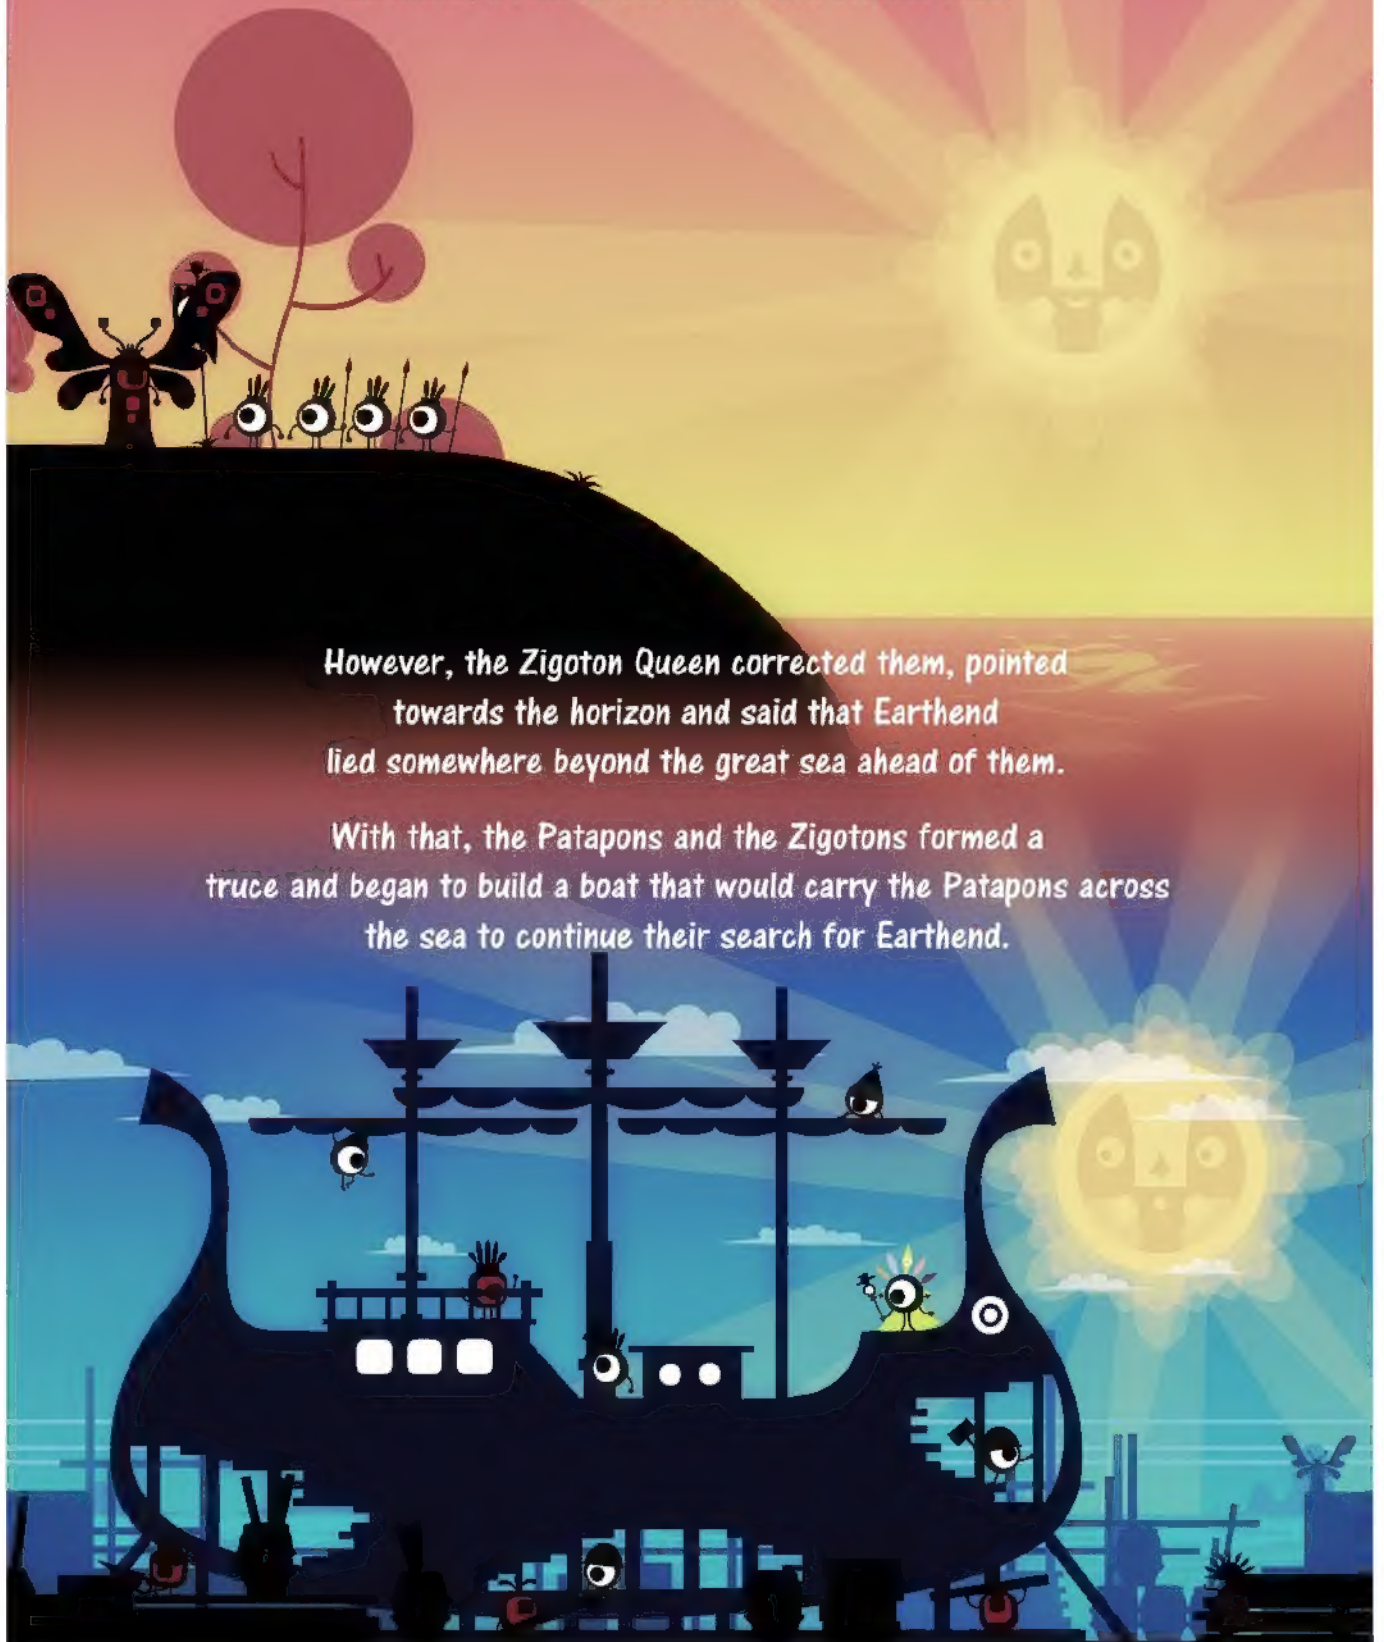

After the Patapons had destroyed the demons that the Zigotons had summoned, those who still lived were freed from their curse.

Those who didn't were forever damned.

At the end of a long and tiresome march, the Patapons found themselves witnessing the rising sun and firmly believed that they had reached Earthend.

Legends say that those that gaze upon IT, that was waiting in Earthend, would be overcome with eternal bliss.

In Memory Of Felix (The Judge)